NUMBER 37

Greatly Loved Physician Called

Dr. J. M. Bentley, Native Whitesburg Physician and Chairman of the Letcher County Public Health Department, Passes Away

WHITESBURG MOURNS GREAT LOSS

Another great and useful citizen of Whitesburg and Letcher county has been called across life's stormy sea away from us. Dr. James Monroe Bentley Tuesday morning, and the career of an active and useful life ended. The whole town and the thousands in Letcher county who knew him well and to whom he had gone thro' his life, will grieve and mourn him along which they traveled.

Yes, death, that certain messenger in time destined to come to all, knocked gently at the home of Dr. James Monroe Bentley Tuesday morning, and the career of an active and useful life ended. The whole town and the thousands in Letcher county who knew him well and to whom he had gone thro' his life, will grieve and mourn him along which they traveled.

Dr. Bentley was a faithful public citizen. The Eagle recalls him as a Mason and a Junior and was a member of the Lodge. He was a family man, away as its counsellor, its guide and its staff, away from the hundreds of those who looked to him to allay their sufferings, dry their tears and smooth out the fearful paths along which they traveled.

At the time this is written it is not definite as to when interment will take place, though this will be in the old Sandlick sleeping place.

THE FUNERAL

Memorial services for Dr. Bentley, who passed away Tuesday morning, were held at the Baptist Church in the city yesterday at 11 o'clock. Preachers of the M. E. Church and Sandlick of the Presbyterian Church were in charge of the services. The church was crowded with those who desired to pay their last respects to this noble citizen who in life rendered such moral and useful service. Hundreds went by at his beautiful bier as they betheld the clay of what was but a few days ago an active, useful citizen.

The remains were interred at Sandlick at 2:30 p.m. the same evening. The Junior order, of which he had long been a faithful adherent, had charge of the interment services.

To our many friends—Our dear son, Willard Adams, according to the will of God, a few days ago lost his life in a com inc. Our hearts are chilled by his loss, but we yield to the will of our Creator.

In addition to his friends and burial brothers, our friends and neighbors show their mournful interest and respect for us and our family by rendering to us every assistance in their power, and in our sadness and grief we want to express to them our thanks. We pray that our heavenly Master may lighten our burdens and comfort the hearts of our friends and bring to them lighter disasters so incident to our lives in this world.

Again thanking all, we are, Very truly,
Ben Adams and family,
Mayking, Ky.

Veteran Citizen Hurt

Uncle Robert Blair, a veteran citizen and well known minister of the Baptist church, accidentally lost his eye in a shooting accident while working on his farm yesterday morning and split his nose nearly wide open. He was brought to Dr. Bach's office in the city where medical aid was given. His many friends trust nothing serious will result from the ugly wound. Mr. Blair is over seventy years of age and still retains his faculties. He likes to work on his farm almost every day to say nothing of his activity as a minister and lawyer.

We have now on hand a nice number of blotters that will come in nice for candidates to use in their campaigns.

Whitesburg and the direct neighborhood has only three actual practicing physicians. Over 3000 people are to be served and as faithfully.

Letters To The Editor

Democrat, Ky.
May 9, 1929.
The Mountain Eagle,

Dear Friend Nehemiah:

I enclose $1.50 for Eagle, as I don't know how I stand. You well know that I have always been a friend to the Eagle and that stood by it when it had no Sunbeam clothes to wear, as well as when it was persecuted. But I became crippled and could not read, and I still am, and thought I would just let it drop, but I found that I could not do so, Young you success in all your honest undertakings, I am, Yours very truly,

T. A. Cook

P.S.—I am an atheist, and the Letcher County News on probation to which I would like to see you reply. T. A. C.

Editor's Note—No, not owing to my disposition not engage in controversy, I do not choose to you well. I might have written this letter to you before five years ago, when we were boys; how much we thought we knew and how little we really did know.

We have lived long, considering, amid a mixture of joys and sorrows, your letter, but I have written the old days. They pass before me dimly and I wonder if some day, some sweet day, we may not quit looking through the glass dimly but see and know each other as we are. I care little for the yellow slip you send with your name, which you send to me between the lines of your letter, as it is.

Judge Robert Parsons, asking for the Republican nomination for County Judge of Greenup county to succeed himself, is 81, and has bought a new car and drives it himself.

Mr. and Mrs. James Caudill, popular Neon citizens, were callers on the Eagle yesterday evening. Mr. Caudill is an active prospective candidate for People's Judge of this town.

The Bouquet creek school board heads are filing suit to attack the constitutionality of the Free School Bill and is asking for an injunction to restrain its enforcement pending the action of the courts.

A great number of interesting programs are being rendered by the teachers and students of the high and graded schools in all the schools in the district. Commencement week is always gala week at this, one of the monte greatest of schools.

A large number of our good old-time friends, candidates in the offing, were in to see us, and some nice order for printing. Greetings all right.

Our mill will be going grinding right on according to turn and all customers will be ranked just alike.

Attorney Frank W. Stowers, battle Pikeville attorney, is in the city attending circuit court. Mr. Stowers has always maintained an excellent practice at the bar, our courts and is regarded as one of the best attorneys at the bar in this section of the state.

Just News

A number of candidates this week filed their petitions with County Clerk Caillard for positions on the August primary ballot. Rather early birds!

It was a noble band of Junes who, about sixty, were joined in the solemn march to the cemetery with the body of Dr. Bentley. Mrs. Jane Mullins and Mrs. Dennis Gibbs, two of our very dear lady friends from Pine Ridge, were in the city yesterday, and called to see the Eagle.

Mrs. Sallie Romeo, of our city, and Mrs. Gibbs is a sister to Mrs. Wm. Hall, of Mayking.

Af Taylor, who one fought a battle called the "war of the roses" against his brother, Bob, for governor of Tennessee, is reported to be very ill at his home near Johnson City. He is now 84.

Judge Robert Parsons, asking for the Republican nomination for County Judge of Greenup county to succeed himself, is 81, and has bought a new car and drives it himself.

UP AMONG THE CLOUDS

Circuit Court

Now In Session

A Great Number of Country Citizens Come to the City and Talk Over Social Affairs and Hear the Appeals of Many Candidates

WHEELS OF JUSTICE ARE ROLLING

Early Monday morning every train and every bus and taxi was bringing people to the city to see the opening of the May term of Circuit Court, as well as to view what the coming August primaries will be like to look like. There were candidates galore, and more and more yet to come before the slaying day. There are thirty-one candidates for county offices announced in the Eagle and since including the one Craft, it is difficult to see who seems to want to win. Jimmy Harper, who is saying so in this week's Eagle, there are seven county offices to be filled, and when the primary comes on Pine Mountain last Saturday Just somehow or other these two by diligent effort augmented by nice advertising always make a success of their sales. The property brought over $2,200.

It was another very successful sale of lots which the Northland Realty Company held on Pine Mountain last Saturday. Just somehow or other these two by diligent effort augmented by nice advertising always make a success of their sales. The property brought over $2,200.

In the day, Monday, the sheriff and his men summoned persons summoned for jury service, and soon a sufficient number had answered for duty. On the petit jury four ladies qualified for service. These are Mrs. James Collins, Mrs. James and Mrs. Letcher Collins. On the Grand Jury, Mrs. Mast Hackworth of Defeated Creek qualified. Of late this is somewhat unusual on juries in the Circuit Court, as they are all high class ladies and belong to the best families. In the forenoon Judge Fields in his usually plain way instructed the jurors, but there was no other work in connection with the trial. Tuesday morning, when the wheels began to roll, the felony docket, as it is called, will be disposed of first. A number of important cases are on the docket for trial. Our readers will be kept posted on the work of the court until the closing of our forms late Thursday evening.

In the Milburn Bentley case, charging murder, the jury has been sequestered and the case is now on trial. He is charged with killing Charlie Gibson at Neon late last fall.

A charge against Judge W. S. Oliver in the same case was dismissed.

The grand jury returned an indictment against Martin Craft, charging murder. He entered a $10,000 bond pending trial which set for the 7th day of the term, which is next Monday. It is said he will seek trial at this term of court.

Yesterday Steve Blair, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Blair of the Blackey section, was tried on a charge of uttering a forged check and serving two years in the State Reformatory. It is said he will ask for a new trial in his case.

About twenty-five indictments, generally on minor charges, have been returned by the grand jury.

ANOTHER RUNNER

And Joe I. Day, the handy man who worked on the Ogle Cafe in Whitesburg, is announced as a candidate for Justice of the Peace in the upper Whitesburg district this week. Ain't it grand, free meals and everything nice.

Joe is said to be inexperienced in the law, but he is all high class ladies and belongs to the best families. In the forenoon Judge Fields in his usually plain way instructed the jurors, but there was no other work in connection with the trial. Tuesday morning, when the wheels began to roll, the felony docket, as it is called, will be disposed of first. A number of important cases are on the docket for trial. Our readers will be kept posted on the work of the court until the closing of our forms late Thursday evening.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

There will be a special service at the Presbyterian Church Sunday night at 7:30, May 19.

Dr. Hurst, one of our Presbyterians, comes from Brazil, will be our speaker for this occasion.

We are interested in our neighbors South of us, and extend to them a cordial invitation to hear Mr. Hurst speak at this time.

O. V. Caudill, Pastor.

John Craft, Jr., son of the late John A. Craft, has a County Court Clerk bee buzzing around, and he may listen to its hums.

NOT POLITICS BUT THE MAN

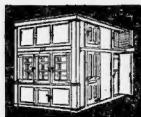

Now and then it will be our pleasure to sound an honest and earnest appeal to the citizens of Letcher county with reference to the election of its county officers which will soon be impending. Right here let us voice this true sentiment, as true as the Bible, that to be a Republican or Democrat means no qualification whatsoever for a county officer. It is the man that counts. Never in all the past has our county reached a period when bold, determined and conscientious officers were more needed to grapple with the problems that confront them now and in the future. We have had much development in the past and with it its changes and varied conditions, but the near future has in store for us a diversity of problems that have never been met in the past and will be up for solution is the future. Will our people, in concrete and in purpose, the noblest and best in the land, arise in their might and power, expand their visions and seize the opportunity to guarantee their welfare and well-being in the coming four years? Neglect this on-coming opportunity to make sure a set of good officers and the groans of you and your children will rise like incense to the open spaces and be futile in their effects. Think today, tomorrow and every day till the polls close and your opportunity ends. To arms, oh ye hosts of Israel!

Are you for Letcher county? Well, the Mountain Eagle is. If you answer yes, and mean it, then you cannot dodge, equivocate or mealy-mouth on your duty as an officer or citizen. We propound this question for a purpose and ask another. Is every good citizen, church and neighborhood receiving that protection and guarantee of its peace and rights that they should? It comes to us that often they are not. Law enforcement in a stern, equitable and fair way is the foundation upon which the stability, happiness, peace and prosperity of all our citizen depend.

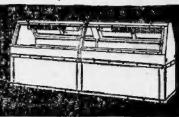

No reader of this paper could surmise the amount of free advertising that is solicited daily by big concerns who ought to know and do know better. It is a puny idea that some concerns and often people have of getting working people's good for nothing. Don't waste good postage or talk that could be used for useful ends.

GETS 21 YEARS

Raymond Sheppard, about 20, confessed to a charge of manslaughter, that of shooting and killing his mother-in-law, Mrs. George Blair on Rockhouse about ten months ago, and the jury reported a verdict of 21 years in the state penitentiary.

At press time this evening the jury in the Melvin Bentley case, charging murder of Charles Gibson last December, has failed to agree on a verdict. The court will be holding a hearing this afternoon to instruct the deliberations and report tomorrow morning.

Later.—The jury agreed on a verdict and gave Bentley two years in the state penitentiary.

Quite a number of felony cases are put down for trial, many of which will be held in the week.

PIKEVILLE POLICEMAN KILLED

U. S. Commissioner Sid Trivett
Dangerously Shot

Word from Pikeville, received late this evening, says that Lon Robinson, Chief of Police of the city, has been shot and killed by S. C. Trivett. Mr. Trivett dangerously shot, his thigh bone being shattered. The details of the affair seem to be that a man named Little was horseback riding in a section of the town and the policeman, accompanied by Mr. Trivett, went to arrest and did arrest him, obtaining some whiskey and a pistol, concealed about his person. About this time, it is reported, the Commissioner requested that he might be further arrested. Just then Little drew another gun, shot the policeman dead on the spot and fled at Mr. Trivett, hitting him in the leg with the above results.

Robinson was the rise of thirty years of age, is married and has two or three children. Mr. Trivett is a prominent attorney, and has been United States Commissioner for some time. He is dangerously shot.

Mrs. Fred Whitaker and two children, Claude, Bonnie Marie and J. P. of Amarillo, Texas, were delightful visitors at the Eagle office today. Mrs. Whitaker is a daughter of our good citizen Jerry Dixon, of Roxana. These folks are here for several days on a visit to their many relatives and friends.

It was a half and highly interesting week of eighth grade boys and girls at the stage school last night to receive their certificates of graduation. There were twenty-seven of them now ready to enter high school.

A BEAUTIFUL POEM

Below is a beautiful poem written by Mrs. P. W. Stimpfle of Millstone, our county, and dedicated to Mrs. Walter J. Kohler, wife of the present Governor of Wisconsin who is a life-long friend of Mrs. Stimpfle.

It was so sweet;
There's none so sweet as thee;
And, if I hadn't been "Me"
I'd want to be thee.

Eyes of dew belong to thee;
And cheeks that fairies kissed
Into dimples. Then it seems the fairies missed
One of themselves, when the gods made thee.

So I sit and vision how it would be
To live in my dreams where I see;
Myself a glorious creature like thee—
Oh! I wonder how it would be!

I dream that the grace of Heaven is mine;
And awake to find that instead, it is thine,
And that is the way it really should be,
For only the gods could have made thee.

They assembled the charms of Heaven above
And put them together with a heart of love;
For they knew, that all that was in their power
Was none too sweet for my "Kohler Flower."

So I sit and I think of what I wanted to be,
And I turn and I rest my eyes on thee.
But instead of being sad, I really am glad
That the charm that I missed, the gods gave thee.

For, though I missed all those things I wanted to be,
Tis sweeter by far to see them in thee
And just sit and pretend that if I hadn't been "Me,"
I most surely, certainly would have been thee.

Dorothy Dennett Stimpfle.

The above poem is copied from one of the biggest and leading newspapers of the North-west.

ANCIENT ROCKS GIVE UP PEARLS

Found in 25,000,000-Year-Old Fossils

Berkeley, Calif.—Recent verification has just been made of the fact that ten pearl-like fossils found by geologists of the University of California recently at Berkeley, Calif., had an absolute 25,000,000 years ago, are real pearls conforming in structure with the modern variety, and having as their source mollusks related to the present day.

The pearls were found by Prof. N. E. A. Hindu and D. B. Russell, graduate students of the department of geology at Berkeley. They were covered while the university men were searching for fossils of the cretaceous period in the banked Oak Run Creek, five miles northeast of Millville, and twenty miles from Redding, Calif.

In spite of their 25,000,000-year-old origin, the pearls were found in such a state of preservation that they were making them stand on earth wings dragons or pterosaurs were flying over the land, and birds that were half reptiles were walking on the ground, the shells still retained a little of their luster, and mollusk shells in which they may have been formed are clearly recognizable in the surrounding limestone.

In order to check the first supposition that the formations were of volcanic origin, the researchers took a thin section of the rock containing the microfossils. The method that probably formed the pearls is known as the Inoceramus, a distant relation to the present-day pearl-forming oysters which are incorrectly called oysters.

Russell explains that mention of such finds is extremely rare in geological literature.

Some time ago a fossil from England, from the same mollusk and the same period as the Berkeley's finds, was also found in the lower Sacramento valley, though it is representative of a later period. One other has been reported from Tennessee.

In size the pearls found by the University of California measure in size from one sixteenths to five-sixteenths of an inch in diameter. The shell of the mollusk found on the spot was originally about nine inches and six inches across.

America Leads Nations

in Aircraft Production

Washington.—The United States led all other nations in production of aircraft during 1928, according to figures made public by the Department of Commerce.

Great Britain, however, and probably France, were the United States in exports of aeronautic products, the report disclosed.

Aircraft production in the United States conservatively was estimated at $400,000,000, according to reliable estimates, the report said.

France produced 1,840, Italy 475,

Germany 200, and Switzerland 25.

According to experts from this country last year totalled $373,423, or virtually equal to the total aircraft exports from the United States in 1927, which totalled $373,423. Britain's aeronautic exports totalled $7,334,700, as against $5,225,240 in 1927.

The total of aeronautic exports from France has not been reported but it is believed to have exceeded the total of $5,000,000 for 1927.

Skewbones of Women

Found in Old Church

Boiling Springs, the country seat of the Klosterkirche, the oldest church of Berlin, the workmen, under their ecclesiastical expert, Doctor Steinberger, discovered a subterranean tomb which is 18 feet below the surface of the ground.

The skeletons identified as remains of the Eighteenth century. The skeletons were examined and buried elsewhere. When the tomb was opened, the "Klosterkirche," built during the latter part of the Thirteenth century, has repeatedly proved a treasure trove for historical relics.

National Refrigerator

Troydale, Wash.—A lava flow 2,000 years old is used by farmers here as a natural cold storage unit. The temperature remains from 37 to 41 degrees the year round.

Excavation Rich

in Geology Finds

Caenon, N. Y.—A common pipe excavation for the new city hall here has developed into an interesting center of prehistoric interest, according to Dr. George Steiner, geologist.

Workmen at 70 feet below street level found the imprint of a strange leaf, and a sea urchin excavated more than 100 logs that were the first stage of petrifaction.

Dr. Lewis Pitcher, geology professor at the University of Pennsylvania, has investigated and said that the tree growth occurred and after the waters of the glacial era receded over territory that is now the Adirondack Peninsula of New Jersey. He claims that the shore line of America at this point during the glacial era was somewhere near Bryn Mawr, Penn.
